Delimara tender

Evarist Bartolo reveals: insider gave Danish firm dirty tender

Matthew Vella

LABOUR MP and MaltaToday columnist Evarist Bartolo today reveals how a Maltese intermediary arranged meetings between Danish company BWSC – the selected bidder for the new power station at Delimara – with top Enemalta officials back in 2005, months before the formal tendering process started.

The meetings provided BWSC with “inside information” that gave the firm a strategic advantage over the other bidders.

The Maltese intermediary was in contact with BWSC’s business development manager, Angers Langhorn, as early as 11 May 2005, when he informed him that the firm had to “tap another source higher up in the political hierarchy.”
