POLICE BEATING CLAIMS

AG knows nothing about investigation

KARL STAGNO-NAVARRA

THE Office of the Attorney General said it was "not in a position" to confirm or deny the status of investigations into the alleged beating of a young man inside the St Julian's police station, last March.

The AG said it could neither confirm nor deny "having considered any charges" to be brought against the police officers implicated in the case of Trevor Ciangura, 21 from Rabat, who claims he sustained serious injuries at the hands of police officers and whose case is supposed to be investigated internally by the police board.

The questions follow a statement issued from the Police headquarters that "investigations from the Internal Investigations Unit have been concluded and the matter has been referred to the Office of the Attorney General for considerations."

The AG said: "I am not in a position to confirm or deny that the case to which you refer has been referred by the Police to my office for consideration since the matter would be covered by the client/lawyer relationship and therefore I would not be at liberty to disclose the information you seek."
